

Building Knowledge – Improving Project Delivery

The Chicago Chapter of the Construction Specifications Institute (CSI) was formed in 1953. We are proud to be one of the largest CSI chapters and a 14-time winner of the “Outstanding Chapter Commendation” Award.

Since 1953, our Chapter Members have been committed to building knowledge and improving project delivery. Our active and diverse membership of construction industry professionals include architects, specifiers, engineers, manufacturer representatives, contractors, students, and more.

CSI Chicago seeks to provide its members with tools to collaborate and effectively communicate the designer’s vision, the material producers’ solutions, and the constructors’ techniques to create outstanding facilities that meet facility owners’ objectives. Through education, certification, networking, community involvement and member tools, members are able to continuously build knowledge and improve project delivery.

EDUCATION

CSI Chicago delivers members education on a variety of construction related topics to help keep them on top of the latest codes, products, construction processes and more.

CERTIFICATION

CSI is renowned in the construction industry for its rigorous certification programs. Professionals can earn credentials, improve their knowledge of accurate and concise construction documents, and improve contract administration skills.

NETWORKING

CSI Chicago connects members and facilitates peer-to-peer conversations offline and online to help members develop best practices, new opportunities and new relationships.

MEMBER TOOLS

CSI Chicago offers members assistance through providing tools that help them collaborate to do their job more efficiently and effectively.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

The CSI Chicago Foundation provides support to philanthropic causes, research and education to further the Chicago construction industry and community.
